

At Community Partners, we believe in the power of love.

Love is so much more than words on a page or words floating between the bars of a melody.

Love is a verb and we are lucky to see acts of love every single day:

A mother and her children, reading quietly together.

The bright flash of the camera highlighting the smile of a couple who have just signed the paperwork for their new home.

A father holding his son and telling him that he has the strength to overcome his addiction.

Community Partners strives to build relationships with all of our clients, whether they are receiving therapy services, being mentored or in the process of purchasing a home.

Relationships built on the ideals of love, trust and human dignity strengthen the bonds of family and community and are integral to Changing The Odds.

We ask you to join us on our mission.

As four wise men once said – love is all you need.

Working together, we can ensure that our children are loved and grow up in homes that are stable, supportive and successful.

Let's bring a little more love to Palm Beach County.

Let's Change The Odds.
